

A subtlety in the keyboard code

 devblogs.microsoft.com/oldnewthing/20030807-00

August 7, 2003

Raymond Chen

I neglected to call it out explicitly in the text for Part 5: Notice that I use `cRepeat` to determine how many lines/pages to scroll. This allows us to scroll the correct amount even if we are falling behind on input processing and are missing some autorepeats.

Raymond Chen

Follow

