

How to void your warranty

 devblogs.microsoft.com/oldnewthing/20031218-00

December 18, 2003

Raymond Chen

MSDN just published an article telling people that it's okay to use reserved fields in an internal structure. Anybody who does this has just voided their warranty. Please put a “This program has a high likelihood of crashing after you install the next Service Pack or upgrade your OS” in your license agreement.

And you wonder why app compat is so hard.

Raymond Chen

Follow

