Ten-year-old + Microsoft Flight Simulator = terrorist devblogs.microsoft.com/oldnewthing/20040109-00

Raymond Chen

Apparently a ten-year-old who put Microsoft Flight Simulator on his Christmas wish-list became the subject of a terrorism investigation. (Warning: I suspect that link will go stale in a week, so read it while you still can.) As always, The Register puts a snarky spin on the story.

Raymond Chen

Follow