It's often fun to go back and see the kooky ideas for television shows that floated around years ago. Here are some from 1997:

- Blade Squad – An action series set in the year 2001 about a cop who gets around on jet-powered roller skates.
- My Beautiful World – A comedy whose characters include a Marilyn Monroe impersonator and a child with the body of a 10-month-old baby and the head of a Queens cab driver.
- The Notorious – A drama about seven crime families, each representing one of the seven deadly sins.
- MV24 – A sitcom about a music video channel, starring Peter Scolari.

Plenty more on the linked web site. What's really scary is that a lot of these kooky ideas turned into actual television programs!
