The pornography of food

devblogs.microsoft.com/oldnewthing/20060202-00

February 2, 2006

On the Media picks up on the Harper's Magazine article Debbie Does Salad and chats with Frederick Kaufman, the article's author, on the curious similarity between the way cooking shows and pornographic films present their subject matter. Cooking shows target the 18–35 male, even though these people are unlikely to be cooks themselves. They just tune in to watch.

Raymond Chen

Follow

