

Things I've written that have amused other people, Episode 2

 devblogs.microsoft.com/oldnewthing/20060704-00

July 4, 2006

Raymond Chen

In our internal blogging discussion mailing list, somebody asked, “How do you guys manage your blogs? I mean stuff like revising old posts, managing links, categories, etc.”

My reply:

What specific sort of “management” activities are you trying to do? Typically, once you post an entry that’s the end of it. You don’t manage a blog so much as keep feeding it.

For some reason, people got a kick out of that last sentence.

(Episode 1.)

Raymond Chen

Follow

