Management-speak: Norming around mechanisms

December 21, 2007

Raymond Chen

This is the entire text of an actual piece of email I received from a high-level manager in response to some feedback I sent.

> Thanks.
>
> There is a lot of norming around any of these mechanisms as well as a certain amount of ability to hold ones ground in these interactions in addition to the admin of the rule being good enough as discussed.
>
> Bob (not the manager's actual name)

I've heard rumors that this message was written in English, but I'm not convinced.
