

PLAY! A Video Game Symphony comes to Seattle

 devblogs.microsoft.com/oldnewthing/20080125-02

January 25, 2008

Raymond Chen

Competing with the Miss America pageant for your Saturday evening attention is the Seattle performance of PLAY! A Video Game Symphony, featuring music from a large number of video games. Presumably, the music will have something to do with the accompanying video being projected on large screens.

The description of the concert omits any mention of whether this is a cosplay event. Just saying.

Raymond Chen

Follow

