

Racking up the frequent shopper points at the register office

 devblogs.microsoft.com/oldnewthing/20080429-01

April 29, 2008

Raymond Chen

In Scotland, a 24-year-old woman got married for the fourth time. The first three ended under unusual circumstances. Let's see, for starters, marriage number one ended when her husband ran off to marry her mom, and the woman even served as a bridesmaid at her mother's wedding. Oh, and a musical thong was also involved.

When I read this article, I thought, "Certainly the UK has a counterpart to The Jerry Springer Show, doesn't it?" It appears that I am not disappointed.

Raymond Chen

Follow

