

Microspeak: Space delivery

 devblogs.microsoft.com/oldnewthing/20080923-00

September 23, 2008

Raymond Chen

As I noted in an earlier entry of Microspeak, the real estate department here has their own weird jargon. Today's phrase is "delivering space":

| Listed below is the schedule for delivery of space over the next twelve months.

Translation: "Listed below is the schedule for when new office space will become ready for use over the next twelve months."

Raymond Chen

Follow

