

Parents billed when kids miss school: Pay for play

 devblogs.microsoft.com/oldnewthing/20090514-01

May 14, 2009

Raymond Chen

The Scotts Valley school system is asking parents to compensate the district when they take their kids out of school to go on vacation. Adds a new wrinkle to the phrase “pay for play”.

I remember the days when we were taught the difference between the things you must do (obligations, responsibilities) and the things you want to do.

Raymond Chen

Follow

