

Buzzword-filled subject line easily misinterpreted by unsuspecting manager

 devblogs.microsoft.com/oldnewthing/20120903-00

September 3, 2012

Raymond Chen

A colleague of mine submitted some paperwork regarding the end-date of his college intern. The automated response combined HR buzzwords in an unfortunate way:

| Subject: Intern Termination Report was executed

Just to be sure, my colleague stopped by his intern's office. He's still there. And still alive.

For now.

Raymond Chen

Follow

